DIAMOND JUBILEE
AND
AWARDS CEREMONY

November 10, 2022

Welcome and Congratulations

November 10, 2022

Welcome to the 2022 Connecticut Nurses' Association Awards Celebration

The Diamond Jubilee Awards have been in existence since 1980 when the Connecticut Nurses' Association established them to commemorate the 75th anniversary of the Association. These prestigious awards represent the highest honor that the nursing profession in Connecticut can bestow on one of its own and has been referred to as a type of "Nobel Prize" in nursing. They include the Florence Wald Award for Outstanding Contribution in Nursing Practice, the Josephine Dolan Award for Outstanding Contributions to Nursing Education, the Virginia Henderson Award for Outstanding Contributions to Nursing Research, the Vera Keane Award for Dedication to CT Nurses Association, the Agnes Ohlson Award for Outstanding Contributions to Political Action and the Mary Jane Williams Award for Lifetime Achievement. Additionally, the association bestows on individual nurses and organizations the Workplace excellence award and the Public service award. The CNA President's Award is a special award that honors an individual or organization that makes significant contributions to nursing practice or to the Association.

The annual Award Celebration is one of the most exciting and fun aspects of my duties and responsibilities as President of CNA. The award ceremony is a time of great jubilation and provides the opportunity to pause from our daily vocations and publicly reward, recognize, and celebrate nurses and individuals for their exemplar dedication to excellence in a variety of different areas of expertise as just mentioned.

This ceremony would not occur without the time and effort placed by the many nominators taking the time to recognize colleagues and the associations dedicated award committee. Each year, the awards committee has the very difficult job of reviewing and scoring each nomination received and determining the winners. This can be a daunting task at times as the nominations are oftentimes all stellar and worthy of recognition. Special thanks to the committee for their thoughtful consideration of all nominees and determination of our award recipients we will be celebrating tonight.

I have the distinct honor of welcoming our Award Honorees, their guests, and their affiliating agencies, as well as our members, Board, and staff to our 2022 Connecticut Nurses' Association (CNA) Awards Celebration. Thank you for allowing me this honor. It truly is a privilege.

Please join me in recognizing and celebrating our distinct 2022 Award recipients.

With much gratitude and joy,

Susan A. Goncalves, DNP. MS, RN-BC- President of Connecticut Nurses Association

RECOGNITION AND THANKS

A special thank you to Awards Chair, Cassandra Esposito (chairperson) and Leadership Committee members Susan Yeakel, Kaitlin Cuas, Vivienne Friday, Stephanie Morency for their time and commitment to the workgroup. Your patience and commitment to the process and selection of candidates that reflect the identified qualities makes this event a success in recognizing Connecticut nurses who have contributed so much to the profession.

MISSION STATEMENT

The Connecticut Nurses' Association speaks with a unified voice for nurses across all specialties, in all forums. The Association exerts its organized influence on education, legislation, and compensation to protect and advance the practice of nursing and the health of the people in CT. We connect our members to each other and to our collective passion, power and purpose.

Jeannette Bronsord, RN, MS, DNP, NEA-BC
Executive Director, Surgical Services

CLINICAL NURSE TRANSITION COACH (CNTC) PROGRAM
Yale New Haven

The YNHHS Clinical Nurse Transition Coach (CNTC) was designed in 2019 by Jeannette Bronsord and Jennifer Ghidini. This program supports novice nurses on the night shift during the first year of practice. Since the program began, the organization has maintained first-year turnover below the benchmark, and there has been overwhelmingly positive feedback from team members, including charge nurses and providers.

The CNTC program takes place post-orientation and simultaneously with the ANCC Practice Transition Nurse Residency Program. Designed to provide 'just in time' coaching by an experienced nurse colleague, the goal is to foster critical thinking skills such as prioritization, problem-solving, escalation of care, and effective communication.

Given our current workforce environment, we will be increasingly dependent on the successful recruitment and onboarding of graduate nurses into highly complex and acute practice environments. This successful strategy wraps an additional layer of safety and support around our nurses while they learn to apply concepts to practice.

Connecticut Nurses' Association
2022 Award Recipients

Public Service Award

To recognize an individual or group who has made notable contributions to the advancement of nursing, public health or health care in Connecticut through public service, public education/advocacy, public policy or organizational leadership.

BERNADETTE "BERNIE" PARK, RN, DNP
Social Venture Partner (SVP-CT)

Bernadette "Bernie" Park is a Social Venture Partner (SVP-CT), a social impact philanthropy organization partner. She has been working with CT's Office of Workforce Strategy to redesign the healthcare workforce system in Connecticut. In this work, Bernie leads several cross-sector teams from industry, education, and government to help solve our most pressing nursing and healthcare workforce issues. In addition, she serves on the boards of the American Nurse Foundation, SVP-CT, and Fairfield Leadership Council for Save the Children. Before public service, she worked at Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center as a Psychiatric Clinical Nurse Specialist and an Adult Nurse Practitioner specializing in Primary care and Oncology. Bernie has a DNP from the Yale School of Nursing specializing in System Change Leadership.

President's Award

To recognize and honor individuals and organizations that have made outstanding contributions to nurses and/or nursing practice in Connecticut or provided outstanding service or contributions to CNA.

STEPHANIE PAULMENO, DNP, MS, RN, NHA, CPH, CCM, CDP
Town of Greenwich
Greenwich Department of Health

Dr. Stephanie Paulmeno for over her 53-year nursing career, has dedicated herself to the highest level of nursing practice and to elevating nursing's status as a voice/advocate for our profession through writing, public speaking, and being visibly present as a nurse in all her roles on Boards, Advisory Boards, Commissions, and Committees. She has served CNA as Treasurer, two-term President, and Finance Committee member. She serves on CNF's Board of Trustees and served on the ANA's Strength Through Resiliency Council-Sub-committee.

Dr. Paulmeno earned her DNP degree at 70 y/o and has mentored nursing/other healthcare students annually for over 20 years. She received CT Nurses' Association Lifetime achievement award, CT League for Nurses 65 over 65 award, TPIU's 1st Nursing Award for Compassionate Care and was inducted into her college's Hall of Fame.

Dr. Paulmeno had taken a lead role during COVID-19 as a contact tracer, vaccinator, MRC member, public health education specialist, and formed a local Nurses' group to monitor mis-/disinformation in social media and created CNA's mandatory education programs on COVID-impacted Suicide/PTSD.

The Josephine Dolan Award

The Josephine Dolan Award for outstanding contributions to nursing education, recognizes innovations and achievements in areas which may include: improving the quality of the educational (undergraduate, graduate, continuing education experience; enhancing the learning environment; conceiving new analytical approaches to subject matter, improving pedagogy; increasing access; applying technology; developing curriculum; allocating resources; assessing learning; strengthening faculty; securing support; clarifying and enlarging nursing education's role in society; or developing public policy.

CHRISTINE RODRIGUEZ, DNP, APRN, FNP-BC, MDIV, MA
Yale University School of Nursing

Dr. Christine Rodriguez serves as faculty at Yale School of Nursing, where she is the Co-Chair of the GEPN Program and Director of the Simulation Unit. Her scholarly inquiry encompasses health inequities and disparities for marginalized communities, LGBTQIA+ healthcare with a specialization in transgender health, simulation-based education, cannabis, and cannabinoid receptors, as well as African-Caribbean religions. She has lectured locally, nationally, and internationally, regarding the importance of LGBTQIA+ healthcare content within healthcare curriculums, conducted numerous sensitivity trainings with clinical partners, and has developed various simulation scenarios for healthcare professionals centered on LGBTQIA+ healthcare. Having served as a healthcare chaplain and practitioner, she utilizes the biopsychosociospiritual framework in caring for individuals. She serves on Tanenbaum's Health Care Program Advisory Council, assisting in identifying new and important trends in interreligious understanding and religio-cultural competency within healthcare settings. Through her own lived experiences and the usage of such framework, Dr. Rodriguez relentlessly strives to advocate and dismantle the systemic oppressive ideologies found within our everyday lives.

LARON E. NELSON, PHD, RN, RNP, FNAP, FNYAM, FAAN
Yale University School of Nursing

Dr. LaRon E. Nelson is the Independence Foundation Associate Professor and Associate Dean of Global Affairs and Planetary Health at Yale School of Nursing. His work spans multiple countries where he is focused on efforts to reduce racial and sexuality-based inequities in HIV. Currently, he co-leads a community-randomized controlled trial testing the efficacy of a multi-level intervention to increase HIV pre-exposure prophylaxis use, and HIV viral suppression among Black men who have sex with men in 16 communities across the American south. Dr. Nelson is an elected Fellow in the American Academy of Nursing and a Fellow in the New York Academy of Medicine. He has been honored with the Excellence in HIV Prevention Award by the Association of Nurses in AIDS Care and the President's Trailblazer Award by the National Black Nurses Association. His research has been sponsored by the National Institutes of Health and the Canadian Institute for Health Research.

The Vera R. Keane Award

The Vera R. Keane Award for distinguished service to CNA is given to an individual, a group, or an organization that has rendered distinguished service or provided valuable assistance of a voluntary nature to the Association and whose contributions and accomplishments on behalf of CNA are of statewide and national significance.

MICHELLE CARAMANELLO, BSBA

Professional Development Specialist & Membership Administrative Assistant
Connecticut Nurses' Association

MICHELLE CARAMANELLO completed her Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration at Nichols College in Massachusetts. In 2011 Michelle became a part of the CT Nurses' Association team. Michelle is known for her friendly, bubbly personality and is often the initial contact person for the association. She goes out of her way to work with the officers, membership, and educational partners, always providing prompt, polite service. In her membership role, she is responsible for the social media outreach, aiding new and existing members, and is the contact person for the Connecticut Nurses Foundation and several CNA committees. As Professional Development Specialist, she is an integral part of the team, maintaining her expertise in Professional Development, and managing the clerical side of both the ANCC Educational Provider and Approver Units. She plays a critical role in maintaining communications with Individual and Approved Provider Nurse Planners, does the initial review of over 75 applications each year, and coordinates the review process with the volunteer Nurse Peer Reviewers. She is also responsible for maintaining all the records for the ANCC Accreditation process.

In addition to her role at CNA, Michelle is the operations manager her family ice cream business, Banana's Ice Cream in Wallingford, CT since 2000. Although both are very different roles, she really enjoys working both her positions within Connecticut Nurses Association and Banana's Ice Cream.

The Agnes Ohlson Award

The Agnes Ohlson Award for Outstanding Contributions to Nursing Through Political Action recognizes service, innovation, and achievement in the political arena that contributes to the advancement of nursing and/or improvement of health care in Connecticut. Areas of activity and achievement in the political process may include, but are not limited to: health care legislation; health care regulation; the judicial system; government affairs; and development and/or implementation of public policy

STATE REPRESENTATIVE GARY TURCO

State of Connecticut

Gary Turco is a son of a nurse, and a strong supporter of the work nurses do to keep our community healthy and advance the public health of all residents.

He has been a state legislator over the last four years, most during the COVID-19 pandemic. He focused on working with nurses and public health officials to be a leader for his community. His district required a reliable resource who could relay up-to-date and accurate public health information and lead by example by following guidelines, masking, and getting vaccinated.
He is also proud of the legislation he helped champion and pass to improve insurance coverage and reduce costs for the early detection of breast and ovarian cancers, the expansion of the use of telehealth, improving children's mental health services, and the creation of a Connecticut paid family medical leave program.

Above all, he values the guidance from nurses in his district and in the state as public health leaders and experts to assist me in improving policies that make our state healthier.

The Florence S. Wald Award

The Florence S. Wald Award for outstanding contributions to nursing practice recognizes achievements and innovations in nursing practice or health care delivery to a patient population that may include: improved quality of care; new or innovative models of care; increased availability of care; improved access to care; potential or demonstrated impact on the prevention of illness, accidents, or other threats to health; improvement in the overall health status of a patient population(s); improvements in the quality of human life; or relief of human suffering.

JUDITH M. HAHN, PHD, RN, NEA-BC, CPHQ

Yale New Haven Hospital

Dr. Judith Hahn's significant contributions to nursing practice are through her work with Nursing Professional Governance, and organizational structures that support nurse engagement, autonomy, and ownership of their profession. She has worked locally, nationally, and internationally to establish and support Nursing Professional Governance and support nurses' decision making. Her research has focused on nurse's joy and meaning in work. In collaboration with the Federal and State Department of Labor, she has received over 14 million dollars in funding to support transition to practice for Registered Nurses and Unlicensed Assistive Personnel. Judi is a past president of Sigma Theta Tau Mu chapter. She finds time to teach Leadership to Doctoral students, serve as an ANCC Magnet® appraiser and as faculty for the Association of Nurse Leaders and the Education Committee. Her commitment to nursing excellence extends to mentorship of many students and leading many projects across Yale New Haven Health System.

The Mary Jane M. Williams Award

The Mary Jane M Williams Award For Lifetime Contribution to the Nursing recognizes that nurses specialize and also function in multiple arenas that advance the cause of the profession. This award reflects the composite of a lifetime of service and takes into consideration the entire mosaic of significant contributions.

STEPHANIE FLEURY MCGUIRE, MS, APRN, NP-BC

Retired from CT Children's Medical Center

Mary Jane Williams is the epitome of a nurse whose clinical expertise was magnified by her professionalism as a nurse. Amazing advances in clinical care occurred during my career as a neonatal bedside nurse. Never changing were the ill newborns and their young families struggling to heal and to cope. Becoming a certified lactation consultant in 1990 expanded my ability to support them. Subsequently promoting breastfeeding and related policy became my passion. My colleagues recognized the success of that commitment in 2018. Those experiences were foundational for developing various educational activities for nurses. My intent was to blend nursing and specialty nursing activities with community service. Various board activities have been the result. As a leader in our specialty organization, we regionalized and gained chapter status. In Dr. Williams' tradition, service on the CNA Government Relations Committee has been the culmination of my experience in local and national policy development.
